

Book Walter to Inspire & Challenge Your Audience

Walter Spires, inspirational author & teacher

Husband, dad, former executive, author, teacher, evangelist & missionary to the church, and most of all, a desperate man after God's own heart.

Walter spent most of his career in the healthcare industry serving in leadership roles across the continuum of care. He was also strategy and management advisor, during which time he wrote his first book, Power Tools, to equip individuals and organizations with 'tools' to build & empower high performance people and teams.

Walter's book, All Men Are Desperate Whether They Admit It or Not, has helped men in prison, rescue missions, addicts in recovery care, formerly homeless groups, and the hardest group of all, church men, come to know Christ and grow in their walk with Him through individual and small group communities.

Walter has spoken nationally to thousands of people in venues that include major corporate and association meetings as well as ministry conferences and events, including church and para-church organizations. He has been a guest on television and radio. Walter and Gigi have been married for 37 years and reside in Franklin, TN. They have three grown children and two more precious than you can imagine grandsons.
